

Welcome to the Derbyshire County PREVENT newsletter!

I'm Joie Cain, currently the Prevent Regional Delivery Officer for Derbyshire. I have recently accepted a new role at DCC within the Community Safety team and will be leaving Prevent at the end of July.

For any Prevent concerns in my absence, please email prevent@derbyshire.gov.uk. Please be aware that capacity will be greatly decreased in my absence, so direct interventions or inputs may not be available. Webinars planned for Primary School staff will take place as planned, and webinars for Secondary School staff will be developed and hosted until a replacement is found for my role. Details of these webinars will be hosted on Safer Derbyshire Counterterrorism Training, so please keep checking the website and the SchoolsNet Bulletin.

Building Resilience to Extremism Through Education

Educate Against Hate has completed a research project to help understand how young people's resilience to radicalisation and extremism can be increased through education. This research identified six key approaches that schools may find useful when considering their own approach to integrating this into their strategy. Well worth a read!

PREVENT Awareness Staff Training Webinars

Prevent Awareness Staff Training webinars are being offered in September and October, with one during the September inset day. All staff are invited to attend, and this will still meet the bi-annual statutory requirement for Prevent training. The webinars will still provide a local context and a more in-depth awareness than the online slides provide. We will also allow time for any questions or concerns at the end. The links to book on to the webinars are below and also on Welcome to a safer Derbyshire. Feel free to disseminate them to any settings who would benefit.
